

Cultural Heritage Management Seminars

Athens, modern capital and historic city

New challenges for heritage management

The central theme of this cycle is the city of Athens and its heritage assets, which are discussed on the basis of an interdisciplinary approach by researchers and professionals from Greece and abroad.

The discussions are open to academics, professionals and Master/PhD students who are actively involved or interested in cultural management and the city.

16 December 2013, 7.00 p.m.

Session 3

Protecting the cultural heritage of Athens

Contested Identities and Realities

Programme

- Ioannis Poullos – cultural heritage management & sustainable development advisor,
Who owns the past? – the ‘experts’ vs. the locals: International developments and the Athenian reality.
- Fotini Belliou – conservation architect,
The citizens of Athens and the protection of their monuments: Identity, perception and struggles.
- Yannis Kallianos – social anthropologist,
Crisis, transformation of public space and the predicament of cultural value in Athens: An anthropological approach of socio-political practices.

Moderator: Dr Nicholas Karachalis – adjunct lecturer in Urban and Economic Geography